

Gentleman,
I gave up on local programming long before xm radio. When xm became available I went through three generations of receivers from pioneer, sony before settling on the delphi unit. Since XM I have returned to listening to what I want, when I want. The local programming seems to appeal to the teeny bop generation only. I am against any limitations placed on this inovative technology.